Great Timber Waste.

The annual consumption of ties on the 203,132 miles of railroad track in this country is 114,000,000. Every year finds it harder for the railroads to get them, Granite, metal and concrete ties have been experimented with. In Europe railroads have been treating their ties by chemical processes which tiebed their lives.

Against Removing the Tariff on Tobacco.

The Connecticut Tobacco Growers' Association has sent to each Senator and Representative from Connecticut a letter protesting against removal of the tariff from Philippine tobacco. It is declared that a further reduction of the duties would transfer to these islands a large part of the business which now supports thousands of citizens in the United States.

Prohibitionists Encouraged.

The Prohibitionists polled at the last election 40,000 more votes than their candidate received at the presidential election of 1900. The Prohibition party is much encouraged by the showing made, which indicates at least that the Prohibition party is not moving backwards.

Excise Taxes.

About 6,000 votes were given in Pennsylvania, from which the Presidential nominees, Mr. Swallow, was chosen; 2,000 in California, the chief wine growing State; 20,000 in Illinois, for which Prohibition candidate for President four years ago was taken; 10,000 in Indiana, 3,600 in Kansas, 2,000 in Kentucky, 1,000 Michigan, 3,400 in Nebraska, 3,000 in South Dakota, 1,600 in Iowa and 3,000 in West Virginia.

Gov. Beckham authorized the appointment of County Judge of Woodford county for Judge Stout's unexpired term to W. O. Davis, of Versailles.

Bank Closed.

The J. A. McGoodwin Banking Company of Franklin, Ky., has also closed its accounts. The capital stock is $15,000, and its report six months ago showed deposits amounting to $100,000.

Deficit in Treasury.

A review of Treasury operations for the calendar year 1904 issued Friday in Washington shows that the total receipts of the Treasury Department were $540,000,000 and the expenditures, including the Panama canal payment, were $502,000,000, a deficit for the year of $22,000,000.

Whipping Post Favored.

Washington, D. C.—The local grand jury in making its final report for the present term of the Supreme Court for the District of Columbia, Friday recommended the establishment of the whipping post in the District. The question has been considerably agitated ever since the President in his last annual message recommended corporal punishment for wife beaters in the District of Columbia.

United States' Gold Business.

The United States is one of the largest gold-producing countries in the world. Each year, basing estimate on experience, the country is turning out gold bullion between $70,000,000 and $80,000,000 as a matter of fact, the United States has in the last ten years imported in bullion gold and gold ore some $80,000,000 in value more than was exported.

Suits for Back Taxes.

Suit was filed at Lexington by Auditor's Agent against the Southern Mutual Investment Company, of which C. J. Bronston is president, for back taxes claimed to be due the State for the years 1899 to 1903 inclusive. The amounts are from $50,000 to $70,000 and aggregate $80,000,000.

Millard F. Marsh, editor of the Maysville Daily Bulletin, died Friday at the age of forty-nine years,

In Magistrate Bell's court at Lexington Perry Carr was fined $10 for allowing two horses to starve to death.

Brides Pledged not to Obey.

The first public marriage ceremony to be performed in a church with the New Thought ceremony was performed in St. Louis on December 28, with the two daughters of Mrs. MacDonald, a minister in the New Thought denomination, as brides.

The brides were Miss Edna and Miss Theodore MacDonald, and the bridegrooms were Betram Colville, of London England, and Mac Dwinnell, of Los Angeles, Cal.

The marriage vow was unusual in that it does not contain the word "obey," or the phrase "until death do you part." The omission of "obey" is in accordance with the New Thought idea of perfect equality between man and woman; the omission of the pledge is due to a belief that death does not end marriage, but that it is for all eternity.

Mr. Colville came to the World's Fair with the Killies' Band, and met Miss Edna Ida MacDonald when she sang at Festival Hall. When the band returned to Eng land Mr. Colville remained in St. Louis and pressed his suit.

WHOM?

The time is approaching when the people are wanting to know whom the State Representatives and Senators will favor for U. S. Senator. The Advocate has a choice of the men mentioned for this position and would favor the election of Judge Thomas H. Paynter of the Court of Appeals. We would favor Judge Paynter first for his ability to represent the people. His close study as a lawyer and Judge, his powers of discrimination, his popularity among the people, his freedom from partisan methods have endeared him to his people and fit him for a just representative. While Judge Paynter has always been true to Democratic principles never at any time has his conduct compromised his dignity and at all times he has shown signs of the great man and true Statesman that he is. An active man, vigorous in mind and body, trained to think, conclude and bring to pass, he would make a Senator of whom Kentuckians would have reason to be proud of.

GO FORWARD.

A representative business man was among the Wall Street money investors a few days ago and he is back to say to our people that the pulse of holders is strong and they are anxious to let it go on money maturing investments. He is sure our railroad project would be a go if we would only get our subscriptions in good shape. Now why not make the last and desperate struggle for a finish to this undertaking. The early spring should find us at work constructing the proposed road.

There are other profitable undertakings for Mt. Sterling which if completed would land several manufacturers here within a year. Their coming would be good for every branch of business inside and outside the city. The effort to secure them is worth while. Let's be at the work.

For Real.

5 room cottage on Elm St. at $13.50 per month.

Large brick business house and livery stable on High Street.

Again we show to our readers the condition of the Mt. Sterling National and Montgomery National banks. What they have earned during the past six months will be exceedingly gratifying to the stockholders and business men generally as well. They show growth, prosperity and good and safe financing. We ask our readers to study the statements of these institutions and be encouraged in the prosperity of our country and her enterprises.

"We are too squeamish about killing. There is an immense number of people living in Mayfield who ought to be hanged. There ought to be a hoard like the wealthier idler class, and has savagely attacked the wealthy idler class. In his arrangement, which has created a decided sensation, he only renders for social evils is to crucify some one of quality. Some people argue that it is impossible for men to be equal, because they are neither mentally nor physically equal. Such people should not be armed with "they ought to be equal." That is not so.

You will never know until you have an abundant supply of water in your home. When you consider that we do the pumping all the year round, and that your water supply is always under pressure, there is

Nothing So Cheap

In all your living expenses as the water supply from our mains. You may have water for sprinkling the street and lawn, a faucet in the kitchen, another in your stable, and the charge is

Watch Out!

The conversion of copper cents into dimes seems to be a growing industry. The Second National Bank received four of the spurious dimes in one day. A street hawker sells the liquid which converts the copper into shining pieces resembling a dime. It is contended that such a procedure is not punishable as it is not a theft, mis-carrying the coinage and the Indian head and "One Cent" stamp remain in bold relief, only glossed over with the silver composition. A great many of the one cent "dimes" have been floated in the city.—Lexington Gazette.

COIN DOLLARS IN PRIVATE.
Italian Tales of Money Which Is Minted in Palermo—Shows Samples.

One evening I was sitting with an Italian friend in a restaurant, relates an Everybody's Magazine writer, and we were discussing American laws and restrictions at which he was very much inclined to scoff.

"Why can't you see a dollar that is not a dollar?" said he. I shook my head, and he rolled across the table to me a silver coin. It seemed to me to be a dollar. I examined it with every care and getting another from the cash register, compared the two. They were alike in weight, sound, color, milling and all. At last I got them confused, and my friend was able to point out which was which.

"That's what you call a Palermo dollar," said he. "You remember some years ago that western silver miners were caught taking about $7,000,000 worth of silver into the Nevada City mint and having it turned into money without being recorded. Well, that is just what is going on in Palermo today, with variations. Silver is brought in Bag Luis Potosi, Mexico, or thereabout, shipped to Paris, taken to Palermo, and melted with reasonable privacy. The dollars are put into circulation there and laid in great clay, then come over here in third-class baggage for distribution. They cost about 43 cents each and defy detection, except that the ticks are a little larger, and it is said that the net is not much thicker than the steel, and that the T in pluribus is a short sandish of an inch crooked. You know every counterfeiter makes some little mistake."

CHECK CIGARS IN GOTHAM.
Strange Custom of Depositing Lighted Weed Before Entering New York Stores.

Everyone knows that you can check a trunk, even if it is to San Francisco. You also receive a check to your room when you drive up to a restaurant, or for your $20,000 motor car at the country club. Even the good housewife can get a check at the up-to-date department stores, says the New York Press, may check her baby while she makes her round of the counters. It is known to very few, however, that a certain wholesale dry goods house in the city you can, and must, check your lighted cigar before entering the building. This dry goods house is the largest in this country, if not in the world. It contains an entire city block, a few minutes' walk from the station. It is a large place, whether he is a highwayman or a cardigan order, or a diminutive messenger boy with a telegram, must leave at the door his cigar, cigarette or pipe. It is the most stringent rule of this great firm that no one, from the $500-a-year man to the $10-a-week boy, may smoke when inside the building. At the entrance stands a neatly uniformed men, who is big enough to make one think twice about arguing with him. He points his fingers on the arm of a boy, saying: "Pardon me, are you smoking?" and should that be the case, he will say, "I must ask you to leave your cigar here." He will then hand you a check and which bears the same number as the check you have received. When you leave the building you present your check and receive your cigar or pipe and a match to light it with and go on your way.

To Keep a Horse Down.

When a horse in England courted the other day remarked, "It was necessary to sit on a horse's head when he was down to keep him quiet," the judge replied: "Nothing of the kind. People don't seem to understand that the only time a horse deserves to be held down when he is down is to get hold of his ear and keep his nose in the air. I have seen a lady catch a horse quiet in this way without soiling her gloves."

TEACHING OYAMA TO SHOOT.
American Tales of Delightful Experiences with Now Famous Japanese Field Marshal.

"Twenty-five years ago I was an experienced rifle shot," writes Horatio Fletcher, in World's Work, "and could hit a moving object every time. The .30-caliber rifle and machine-made cartridge, which came into general use in my day, was extremely difficult to load. I wrote and published at the time a pamphlet on how to shoot with a rifle. It happened that copies of the pamphlet reached Japan, where I passed some time soon after. Japan had just begun to make a military organization, and the Japanese lines and Marquis Oyama was minister of war. He invited me to visit him in his home at Tokio and showed great interest in learning how to shoot at a moving object with a rifle. I told him that I had a pamphlet on the subject, and he had a number of American rifles and ample ammunition with me in Japan and Marquis Oyama and the then Col. Moriura (inventor of the Japanese military rifle) joined me to see the pamphlet and practice. They enjoyed themselves greatly in shooting, Oyama in particular showing the enthusiasm of a boy. I shall never forget his keen joy the first time he hit a moving object with a bullet. It was a terrible sight. The bullet went through his coat and he cowered about in agony and pieces he cowered about and screamed in his delight like an excited schoolboy."

AMERICA'S FOREIGN SCENES.

No Better Way to Go Abroad Than to Start Journey in Southeastern Pennsylvania.

Those of our fellow citizens who insist that the only way to go abroad is via a trans-Atlantic liner, need to get acquainted with certain spots in southeastern Pennsylvania. There is nothing more pleasant and for the visitor after noting the beauty and interesting experiences than the city of Lancaster, the rest of the richest market in the state, on any local market day, says W. H. Richardson in Four-Trade News. Most of them are representatives of various countries in America, the Amish Mennonites, a schism of the Mennonite society which seceded from the main body about the year 1812. So far as the author is concerned, the Amish and their descendants are the most interesting people in America. Their tongue is almost the same as that of their ancestors from the days of the early two centuries. The dress of the Amish is quite simple. Holland or Brittany of to-day; their religion, with its peculiarities and its curious practices and observances, marks the days of the reformer.

GOIT THAT ASSAILED.

One morning I awoke and opened the back door and tried to call in the cows, so that he could not have to walk in the deep mud to drive them. One cow refused to come, although he called her name repeatedly, and I called him at the other side of the yard, watching him, as he vainly tried to drive the cow without stepping into the mire. Then the cow quietly stepped up to her end but did not move. Of course she moved. He followed, calling her name and moved in the opposite direction, until he went through the door into the barn. Then he trotted back to the other side of the yard.

MR. W. S. LLOYD, OUR LOCAL DRUGGIST.

SAYS THAT THE WONDERFUL POPULARITY OF VINOL IS DUE TO INTRINSIC MERIT.

"The intrinsic merit of this new cod liver oil preparation, Vinol," said Mr. Lloyd, is beginning to be realized by the people of Mt. Sterling. Of course in my position as a druggist I have seen innumerable medicines and proprietary articles introduced, but never in my long experience have I ever known or heard of a medicine that would produce more beneficial results than Vinol.

"I attribute this to the fact that Vinol contains in a concentrated form all the medicinal elements contained in cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cod's livers, but without a drop of oil or grease to nauseate and upset the stomach, and it contains no sickening drugs.

"A prominent physician writes: Vinol is the most valuable preparation of cod liver oil known to medicine. It is of untold value to create strength and build up the general system for old people, weak women and children, and it has no equal for hard colds, bronchial and all lung infections.

"In cases where cod liver oil, emulsions and other tonics fail, Vinol will heal, strengthen and cure.

"There are hundreds of people right here in Mt. Sterling who can testify that there is nothing equal to Vinol to make rich, red blood, to increase the appetite, cure stomach troubles, give strength and renewed vitality to the aged, build up the run-down, tired and debilitated, make the weak strong, cure chronic coughs, colds and build up the convalescent.

"We freely offer to return your money in every case where Vinol fails. Try it on this guarantee," W. S. Lloyd, Druggist.

Fulton for the sum of $24,260.84, claimed as an over charge on printing 19,000 school registers and books. SOME ILLS OF INDIA.

Third: Degradation of Women.

By W. M. FORREST.

The theme is old, but not so old as the things it tends to be told every generation of Christians, until the new generations of India's womanhood are raised above the hard conditions of their lot.

A study of the earliest records of Hindu civilization reveals the fact that the position of women was higher, and her burdens lighter, in primitive times than now. There could be no surer comment on the Hindu religion than that thirty-five centuries of its development have meant the progressive degradation of woman.

The theme is old, but not so old as the things it tends to be told every generation of Christians, until the new generations of India's womanhood are raised above the hard conditions of their lot.

Partly because it is a sin and a calamity to lay the sin as the door of the religion of the land. Woman has not been uplifted by it; on the contrary, it has, by specific enactment, crushed her beneath heavy disabilities.

The legal code of Manu has been as sacred and as all-controlling to the Hindu as was the Mosaic law to Israel. While there may be found some complimentary enactments in the writings of Manu concerning women, they are more than offset by other laws.

There we read "wful punishment to him who, in his sins, has sinned against his wife."

And again, "Though unobedient of approved usages, or ennobled by another woman, or devoid of good qualities, yet a husband must be revered as a god."

It is further declared that a woman is to be beaten for her faults, and must never eat or sit at her ease in the presence of her husband. She must never hear the reading of the sacred books. She is powerless apart from her father or husband, and when married, to have no god but her husband.

It is not surprising that more recent writers have reflected the influence of the great sage. Hence, in a book of moral precepts we find this bit of wisdom: "One may trust deadly poison, a river, a burglar, the beautiful, large and fierce elephant, the tiger come for prey, the angel of death, a thief, a savage, a murderer, but if one trusts a woman, without doubt he will wander among the streets a beggar."

And another has added, "Education is good, just as milk is good, but milk is valuable, education venomous, so education given to a woman becomes poison."

Such sentiments from writers, ancient and modern, might be indefinitely multiplied. But we shall turn to examine some of the bitter fruits of this teaching.

There is a widespread conviction that the female heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked. Being held in contempt and despised, the unfortunate woman must be watched to prevent her falling from virtue. Hence, there are some 40,000,000 of the upper castes in some parts of the country kept virtual prisoners in the zenanas, or woman's apartments.

Only the well-to-do can afford such luxuries. But the poorer women, though free, are so more trusted.

If a woman has no soul and no god apart from a husband, what harm can there be in killing a female infant? If the parents are too poor to hope to provide her with a suitable husband, is it not better good economy and good religion to stifle the little girl at birth?

Infanticide was frightfully prevalent until the British government put it down with a heavy hand. So difficult was it in some districts to stop the crime or detect the criminals that government had to punish the whole community whenever the ratio of girls to boys fell below a certain number. Where they were not murdered, girls were starved. Even yet no one supposes that infanticide has been suppressed.

Partly because it is a sin and a calamity for a girl to be unmarried, and partly because the man who dies without a son sinks into perdition, child marriages have arisen. According to the census of 1901 there were 360,000 children under five years of age married in India. In the matter rested, as in the case of mere infants, with nothing beyond a betrothal, it might be tolerated. But thousands of little girls have been actually married to men of all ages. Native and Euro-pean medical authorities unite in testifying that 25 per cent. of the child-wives are killed by too early marriage, 25 per cent. are rendered chronic invalids, and the vast majority suffer. The harrowing details of the subject could be printed only in a scientific paper, or government report. Yet when repeating horrors led government to raise the "age of consent" from ten years to twelve years of age, India protested in the name of religion. Monster indignation meetings were held. One in Calcutta gathered hundreds of thousands of men in the public park to cry out with frenzy that sacrilegious hands had been laid upon their most sacred institutions.

There are 25,000,000 widows in India, and 14,000 of them are under five years of age. Years ago the British put a stop to burning them alive with their dead husbands. But neither the laws of God nor of man have yet brought hope to their hearts. Their widowhood is perpetual, though they may never have seen their husbands. Stripped of their jewels, their beauty defaced, cursed, seduced, eating one meal a day, fasting without food or drink for forty-eight hours twice each month—these are some of the elements of their woe. No wonder that one of them cried with infinite pathos, "O God, let no more women be born in India."

Time would fail to tell of the blight of almost universal illiteracy, of the heavy toll in country and city, of the lack of medical aid in the crises of their lives. Judging Hinduism by its fruits, it rests under a heavy indictment for its unmannly, inhuman, brutal, fiendish treatment of its women.

It must not be thought that the women of India are without their virtues. They are generally devoted to their husbands and children. They are patient and industrious, and many individuals are loved and are happy. Yet their treatment for centuries has debased them. They know not how to care for their homes and children. They abound in "the sins of emptiness, gossip and spite and envy." So long have they been taught that their only glory is to remain as they are, that they are now the greatest obstacle to any reform. Their influence over sons and husbands cannot be helpful. An educated native said wistfully, some time ago, "We have now no home."

So nature has had her revenge. The women have fallen to the level assigned them in the thoughts and laws of their lords, and they have dragged the men down with them. The noble womanhood and chivalrous manhood of America must lift them up. What Christian heart can resist the dumb, unconscious, pitiful appeal of India's suffering womanhood?—The Christian Century.

DEATHS.

COLLING HOCKADAY.

Mrs. James A. Curry, 72 years, died at Lexington on Thursday. Some of her family are in the firm of Curry, Tunis & Norwood.

BRYSON.—James Bryson died at the home of Thos. Canan in the Judy neighborhood. He was a native of Ireland, aged 78, and had no heirs but had considerable property.

SHARP.—The announcement that Jas. K. Sharp, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Sharp, had died on Friday morning was a great surprise and a source of regret to his many friends. On Thursday morning he told his wife that she was a member of his household and left her and that he was not feeling well. After stirring around for a while he felt better. He is a carrier on R. F. D. No. 3, so made his trip on that day. He had promised to introduce a young man from Carlisle to some lady friends, so after supper walked downtown. Before 10 o'clock he became so sick that he went home. Dr. Simrall was called about 11 o'clock and the condition of young Sharp was pronounced serious. His symptoms were cramping in hands and feet, nausea and vomiting; later severe pains in the abdomen. He was unconscious until he died, but unable much of the time to move himself. He continued with slight intermission, to suffer until 11 o'clock on Friday morning, Dec. 30, 1904 when his life of hope and promise was cut short. The funeral was conducted at the residence on Sunday afternoon, January 1, 1905, at 1:30 o'clock by Rev. J. B. Mencham, pastor of the Southern Presbyterian Church of the Elk Lodge. He was born in this city in March, 1883, hence was in 22nd year. He was a son of Rev. W. E. K. Sharp, pastor of the Southern Presbyterian Church at that time. He was a model young man, pleasing in manner, accommodating, courteous and good. In business he was energetic, in the family circle obedient and loving and kind, and was popular with those who knew him.

Preaching at Public School building next Sabbath at 11:00 o'clock. Sabbath School at 9:15.

The monthly meeting of the C. W. M. will be held on Sunday at 8 o'clock at the Christian church.

Rev. C. F. Oney, formerly presiding elder of the Hazel Green circuit for the M. E. Church South, is now President of the Townsite Co., of Davenport, Oklahoma, of which James G. McCue, formerly of this city, is the Secretary.

Mrs. Flora Hughart (nee Flora Samuels), one of Kentucky's sweetest singers, has been engaged by the Fountain Street Baptist Church of Grand Rapids, Mich., to sing one selection each Sunday during the winter 1905.

It has been given out recently from Richmond, Virginia, that Rev. Everett Gill, of Louisville, former pastor of the Mt. Sterling Baptist church was more than a year ago appointed Superintendent of Foreign Missions in Italy with a salary of $1,000 per month. Not until last Sunday was the appointment made public, when Mr. Gill tendered his resignation as pastor of East Church, Louisville, Ky., to accept this position.

Sunday morning Rev. W. M. Forrest delivered an address at the Christian church on the Womanhood of Christ. For nine years he has been connected with the Christian Woman's Board of Managers at the University of Michigan, and is now at the University of Va. The object of this address was to stimulate interest in the local auxiliary. A good deep impression was made by this masterly address. In another column will be found an article written by Bro. Forrest on some illus of India—third of the series: Degradation of Women.
